Itoh Peonies

While supplies last!

We at Atlock Farm are so happy to have a good selection of these outstanding peonies to offer this spring. We had 'Bartzella' last year and were completely blown away by its performance and beauty.

We are also quite pleased with the excellent quality of the plants we have. They are very well established in their containers and will transplant without difficulty. All are budding up heavily.

In addition to these wonderful peonies, we also have gotten in some very nice Japanese maples and other beautiful landscape and garden plants. And just to ice the cake, some really rare and unusual items from one of the country's best-known plant hunters, Dan Hinkley, have also come in and are ready and up to the task of another season of plant on-upmanship.

Atlock Farm opens for the season on April 1. Click here to add it Opening Day to your calendar:
